

Computer Conduct Code

Faculty and students are required to follow the "Computer Conduct Code." This code is also published in the NCC Student Handbook. As indicated in the code, faculty should refer students deemed to be misusing computer equipment or labs to the Student Judicial System and/or Vice President of Academic Affairs for disciplinary action.

- No faculty or student will reprogram, reconfigure, install or change any software or configuration that is installed on any of the College computers or computer system without written approval from the IT Department. Only the IT Department and approved faculty are authorized to make these changes.
- No faculty or student will connect, disconnect or alter in any form how a computer or related equipment is cabled or connected to the College network system without written approval from the IT Department. Only the IT Department and approved faculty are authorized to make these changes.
- No faculty or student will copy or download any computer program or software that is licensed to the College or use College computer equipment or network to copy or download any program or software or materials that they do not have the legal right to copy.
- No faculty or student will use any College computer or network to engage in any illegal activity to include but not limited to: engage in an illegal act, make threats, harass individuals, or misrepresent themselves to others.
- No faculty or student will access or display any pornographic materials on any College computer or network equipment.
- No faculty or student will bring any food or drink into a College computer lab, including classrooms or libraries where computers are located.
